

Protecting Children from Sexual Abuse

Best Practices for Youth Serving Organizations

- How can I tell if a child our organization serves is being sexually abused?
- What should I do (and not do) if I suspect abuse?
- How can our organization spot and respond to problematic staff and volunteer behaviors?
- What steps does our organization need to take to be sure no child is sexually abused under our watch?

Certified Good-Touch/Bad-Touch® Trainer Tim Murphy will share the answers to these and other tough questions in a free, fast-paced seminar. Learn ways to reduce the risk of abuse in your organization by adopting best practices developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
